

WESTERN WASHINGTON Fellowship of RECONCILIATION 2015 FALL RETREAT

SATURDAY NOVEMBER 7, 2015

9:00 AM TO 5:00 PM AT GWINWOOD CONFERENCE CENTER IN LACEY

PRACTICAL DEMOCRACY: How CAN WE MAKE IT WORK FOR ALL of US?

All across our nation, people are outraged that democracy is being stolen away from us:

- Our economy has been hijacked by the 1% -- and even the 1% of the 1% -- forcing the rest of us to suffer with lower incomes and austerity cutbacks in basic services.
- The public wants peace, but the military-industrial complex and “national-security state” launch endless wars.
- The public wants food that is safe and healthful, energy that is clean and renewable, and health care that is affordable and available, but instead giant corporations – and the politicians they fund and lobby – give us the opposite.
- This anti-democratic pattern repeats itself in all sectors: Fossil fuel companies worsen the climate crisis; the gun lobby prevents laws to reduce gun violence; real estate developers causes local governments to continue suburban sprawl, profit-making companies privatize schools and lay off teachers, giant corporations consolidate ownership of news media to become monopolies and lock out alternative voices, political parties pass laws and gerrymander districts to promote their own candidates and reduce minority voting, and the list goes on.
- Many of our federal, state and local governments are run by people who are grossly ignorant, mean-spirited and corrupt.

The American people deeply value the principle of democracy, but nationally and locally, rich and powerful entities have corrupted the government to serve their narrow interests instead of the broad public interest. Some of the anti-democratic behaviors above have antagonized – or prevented – voting to such an extent that the U.S. has the lowest voting turnout of any traditionally democratic nation.

But elections are only a little part of what democracy means. Practical democracy would empower ordinary people – not limited to those eligible to vote – to equip themselves with accurate information, and it would empower them to wield actual power all year around, not just on certain election days. It would do this not only for electing government officials, but also for making substantive decisions in all sectors (economics, energy, environment, media, policing, social justice issues, governmental accountability, etc.). Practical democracy would make the principle of democracy come to life in every aspect of our daily lives!

Big political parties and the extremely rich persons and businesses that fund them try to distract us from the real issues and narrow our focus to mere electioneering. We must broaden and deepen our vision to applying democracy’s principles in practical ways to help our people and our planet.

Please join with us on Saturday November 7 for the Western Washington Fellowship of Reconciliation’s 2015 Fall Retreat. We will enjoy an inspiring and practical keynote by Mary Lou Finley, who has decades of experience with grassroots movements for social and political change.

Then you can choose from among four morning workshops and four more in the afternoon. These eight workshop topics are:

- How white folks can organize for racial justice
- How to organize now for single-payer health care
- How to use Saul Alinsky’s classic model of local organizing
- How to monitor local governments to hold them accountable
- How to build the Move to Amend movement to fix campaign financing
- How people can create their own progressive media (print, radio, TV, blogs)
- How to organize effective grassroots direct action against oil and coal abuses
- How to strategize for nonviolent grassroots movements for social and political change

Together, we’ll make progress toward practical democracy.
